DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

1. Regarding the claim for foreign priority, applicant's submission appears to support the proper submission of the priority document. While the copy of the first page of the certified priority document does appear to evidence the proper filing, for whatever reason a complete copy of the certified priority document is not in the file. Applicant's claim for foreign priority is approved by the Examiner. However, applicant is kindly requested to submit a complete copy of the certified priority document to complete the file and clarify the record.
2. Regarding the drawings, applicant's Replacement Sheets are approved by the Examiner.
3. Applicant's arguments filed 20 November 2006 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.
4. Turning to the rejection(s) of the claims under 35 U.S.C. § 102, it is noted that the terminology in a pending application's claims is to be given its broadest reasonable interpretation (In re Zletz, 893 F.2d 319, 321, 13 USPQ2d 1320, 1322 (Fed. Cir. 1989)) and limitations from a pending application's specification will not be read into the claims (Sjolund v. Musland, 847 F.2d 1573, 1581-82, 6 USPQ2d 2020, 2027 (Fed. Cir. 1988)). Anticipation under 35 U.S.C. § 102 is established only when a single prior art reference discloses, either expressly or under the principles of inherency, each and every element of a claimed invention. See Constant v. Advanced Micro-Devices, Inc.,

Art Unit: 1746

848 F.2d 1560, 1570, 7 USPQ2d 1057, 1064 (Fed. Cir.), cert. denied, 488 U.S. 892 (1988); RCA Corp. v. Applied Digital Data Sys., Inc., 730 F.2d 1440, 1444, 221 USPQ 385, 388 (Fed. Cir. 1984). Moreover, anticipation by a prior art reference does not require either the inventive concept of the claimed subject matter or the recognition of properties that are inherently possessed by the prior art reference. Verdegaal Brothers Inc. v. Union Oil co. of California, 814 F.2d 628, 633, 2 USPQ2d 1051, 1054 (Fed. Cir. 1987), cert. denied, 484 U.S. 827 (1987). A prior art reference anticipates the subject matter of a claim when that reference discloses each and every element set forth in the claim (In re Paulsen, 30 F.3d 1475, 1478-79, 31 USPQ2d 1671, 1673 (Fed. Cir. 1994) and In re Spada, 911 F.2d 705, 708, 15 USPQ2d 1655, 1657 (Fed. Cir. 1990)); however, the law of anticipation does not require that the reference teach what Applicant is claiming, but only that the claims "read on" something disclosed in the reference. Kalman v. Kimberly-Clark Corp., 713 F.2d 760, 772, 218 USPQ 781, 789 (Fed. Cir. 1983), cert. denied, 465 U.S. 1026 (1984) (and overruled in part on another issue), SRI Intel v. Matsushita Elec. Corp. Of Am., 775 F.2d 1107, 1118, 227 USPQ 577, 583 (Fed. Cir. 1985). Also, a reference anticipates a claim if it discloses the claimed invention such that a skilled artisan could take its teachings in combination with his own knowledge of the particular art and be in possession of the invention. See In re Graves, 69 F.3d 1147, 1152, 36 USPQ2d 1697, 1701 (Fed. Cir. 1995), cert. denied, 116 S.Ct. 1362 (1996), quoting from In re LeGrice, 301 F.2d 929, 936, 133 USPQ 365, 372 (CCPA 1962).

5. Regarding KABEYA, applicant argues that KABEYA does not disclose “the tub body, the tub back, and the bearing housing are coupled by a coupling member” and further that “[b]oth the plate and the bolts fail to even touch the tub body 26 of Kabeya.” The Examiner disagrees and directs applicant to Figures 2 & 7. Clearly the bolts connect to the tub body 26, otherwise the bolts 36/42 would have no purpose. This would be instantly clear to one having ordinary skill in the art. Moreover, without the coupling member of KABEYA the tub components and bearing housing would not be “coupled together”. Accordingly, the reinforcing plate with bolts of KABEYA, which functions to couple the tub components and bearing housing together is considered to read on applicant’s broadly claimed recitation of a coupling member including a bolt.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

7. Claims 1-2 & 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by U.S. Patent No. 6,148,647 to KABEYA et al. (hereinafter “KABEYA”). KABEYA discloses a washing machine having a cylindrical tub (26) having a ring-type tub cover (26c) on the front edge, a recessed tub back (26b) having an outer circumferential wall portion weld-coupled to the inner surface of the tub body rear edge, a motor assembly (66) mounted in the recess via a bearing housing (41/91), and the tub body, tub back, and bearing housing “coupled” by a coupling member including a bolt (reinforcing plate 35/92 including bolts 36/42 readable on providing a structural “coupling” between the tub body, tub back and bearing housing). See particularly Figures 1, 2, & 7 and relative associated text.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. The factual inquiries set forth in Graham v. John Deere Co., 383 U.S. 1, 148 USPQ 459 (1966), that are applied for establishing a background for determining obviousness under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) are summarized as follows:

1. Determining the scope and contents of the prior art.
2. Ascertaining the differences between the prior art and the claims at issue.
3. Resolving the level of ordinary skill in the pertinent art.
4. Considering objective evidence present in the application indicating obviousness or nonobviousness.

10. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

11. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over KABEYA in view of Applicant's admitted prior art (hereinafter "AAPA"). Recitation of KABEYA is repeated here from above. Although KABEYA discloses a bearing housing KABEYA does not disclose the structural shape of the bearing housing of a plurality of bridges in a radial direction. However, applicant readily admits that it is known to provide a washing machine with a bearing housing having a plurality of radial bridges (see Figures 1-3 and relative associated text). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to substitute the bearing housing of KABEYA with the known bearing housing of AAPA since it appears that the invention would perform equally well with other known bearing housings and the selection of any of these known equivalents to provide bearing support of a rotatable drum shaft with a stationary water tub would be within the level of ordinary skill in the art. Moreover, there would be a reasonable expectation of success in substituting one bearing housing for another to achieve the same function, such being well within the level and knowledge of one having ordinary skill in the art.

Conclusion

12. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

13. A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
